Opis / Description

16,5 cm / 63 gr / sinking

CJM 165B is a hybrid lure that combines the peculiarities and the strengths of a classic metal jig with the realism and the hydrodynamics of a hard bait. The result is a sinking lipless minnow with a very high specific weight in relation to the dimensions. This lure is characterized by an excellent castability, typical of a jig and the sinuosity typical of a stick minnow. The small size of this lure faithfully imitates the size of the forage fish, the main prey of the coastal and offshore predators. This characteristic makes the lure extremely versatile both for inshore and offshore fishing. The oscillation while the bait is sinking, combined with the pauses during the retrieval, triggers the attack of the predators. The particular groove of the snout, in the front part of the bait improves its movement both with a linear retrieval and with strong jerks. The CJM165B is designed with a wire through armour made of stainless steel and it features two strong treble hooks. The body made of ABS is very resistant. The 3D technology and the UV coating make the colors more vibrant, durable and improves the appearance.
